Thanks for the opportunity to participate in today's discussion.

Attached please find the 2013 Peer Review comments to which I was referring (see p. 5 of 73). Also sharing OPPT's 2014 response to comments received from the public and the peer review panel since it too addresses EPA's long standing policy that a single exposure within a critical window of development may induce developmental effects, including fetal cardiac defects (see, for example, Comment #44).

Reply/call with follow-up questions otherwise, thanks again and best wishes. ~~~ Jace (AWL# Ex. 6 Personal Privacy (PP))
